Donor Egg Recipient Profile

Seattle Reproductive Medicine's (SRM) donors go through an extensive screening and questioning process in order to supply their recipient with the most detailed information about their medical, social, personal, and family background and history. At times this process can be stressful and burdensome to our donors, as well as extremely rewarding and insightful. Our donors understand that they are giving a valuable gift to their recipients, whom they know nothing about.

Because your donor has shared so much of herself with you, we ask that you take a moment to fill out the attached short questionnaire about yourself. Remember, this is an anonymous program, so please do not include any information that may identify you or your partner. We know that our recipients enjoy and value the connection they feel with their donor through their donor's personal profile. Taking the time to provide some insight about yourself for your donor will help to personalize this process more for her as well.

Please return the attached questionnaire in the preaddressed envelope provided or, if you'd prefer, bring it to SRM on or before your protocol review appointment. The information you share will be made available only to the donor you have selected.

On behalf of your donor, we thank you!
